Colonels Beat Raiders 55-41

The Altavista Colonels seem to get all the breaks last Tuesday night when they beat the Appomattox Raiders 55-41 in a Seminole District basketball game played at Appomattox. The lost gives the Raiders a 6-9 district mark and 6-11 overall.

In the first quarter the score was tied two times, 2-2 and 4-4, before the Colonels came out on top 14-10. The second quarter was rough for the Raiders as they only scored four points, all by Mark Eggleston, and the Altavista got by with it all as they hit for 17 to take a 31-14 half time lead. In the second half the Raiders started getting some better calls and things went a little better, but the damage was done in the first half. The Raiders outscored Altavista 27-24 in the second half.

Ennoch Robinson led the Raiders with 11 points and five rebounds and Mark Eggleston had 10 for the Raiders. Richard McCoy and James Reed each had eight points for Appomattox and McCoy also pulled down five rebounds.

Four Altavista players hit double figures with Danny Marsh getting 13, Bob Elliott 12, Terry Poindexter 11 and Eddie Barnard 10.

The Colonels pulled down 24 rebounds to 15 for the Raiders as neither team did a whole lot of shooting. The Raiders turn the ball over 16 times to 24 for Altavista. The Shooting was almost 2 to 1 as the Colonels hit 70% from the floor to 37% for Appomattox.

Altavista	14	17	12	12 – 55
Appo.	10	4	10	17 – 41

Appomattox Scoring: Eggleston 10, Reed 8, McCoy 8, Clark 2, Robinson 11, H. Smith 2.

Raiderettes Beat Altavista 50-44

The Appomattox Raiderettes continued their unbeaten season with a 50-44 win over the Altavista girls last Tuesday night in a girls Seminole District basketball game at Appomattox. The Raiderettes are now 12-0 for the season.

Trish Book and Mary Jane Smith led the Raiderettes with 17 points each. Brenda Singleton led Altavista and took game honors with 22 and Anna Harvey had 12 for the losers.

It a good game all the way with the Raiderettes holding a five point half time lead. Altavista came to within one late in the game, but two foul shots by Teresa Smith and a basket by Book put the game out of reach in the closing seconds.

The Raiderettes shot about 48% for the game.

Appomattox Youth Assoc. To Hold Meeting

by J. Roy Massie

The Appomattox County Youth Association will hold a very important organizational meeting on February 19, 1974, at 7:30 p.m. at the Fidelity National Bank, Branch Office. It is very important that all persons interested in this program to be present. At least some new officers must be elected for the coming year.

It has been my pleasure and I consider it a very high honor to have been a part of this organization and being able to represent the people of Appomattox County at many meetings and tournaments since the association was formed seven years ago.

Since the end of the 1973 Dixie Youth Baseball Season, I have had another honor bestowed upon me. That being elected to be District Director of District 6 for Dixie Youth Baseball in Virginia. I accepted this new job after a great deal of thought and prayer because I found it hard to stop working as close to and with the people of Appomattox as I have for the past seven years. I feel that the fine work by the others in the association which made my job of representing them easier. I am sure I would not have been considered as the man to be district director. I hope the people that have children participating in any sport that is under the supervision of Appomattox County Youth Association and anyone else interested in the children of this county will carefully consider selecting the person to represent the association in the future.

District 6 of Dixie Youth Baseball, Inc. in Virginia includes Appomattox, Brookneal, Buckingham, Charlotte County, Madison Heights and Rustburg. At the present time District 6 is the largest district in the state.

While serving as your representative I have made many friends here in Appomattox and elsewhere in the state.

I am sure the person that is elected to represent you in the future will enjoy representing you as much as I have.

At this time the association expects to expand a little. It will replace Pony League with Babe Ruth which will allow a boy to play through his 15th year instead of 14th. Rustburg will be a part of the Babe Ruth League.

As your District Director I pledge my full support and assistance any time I can be of help. As your friend in the past present and future I would like to say thank you for the help in the past and offer to you in the future my prayers and best wishes.

J. Roy Massie

To Attend Convention

The following teachers of the Appomattox Education Association will leave Saturday morning to attend the mini convention of the V.E.A. in Richmond at 11 a.m.: Mrs. Ruth Watkins, Messrs. Frank Coffey, Frank Elder, Dennice Torrence and Rev. R. Q. Lawing. The delegates will discuss the program of action proposed at the annual convention held in Richmond this fall.

Transco Announces Find of Hydrocarbons

Transcontinental Production Company, a subsidiary of Transco Companies, Inc., announces the find of significant hydrocarbons on West Cameron Block 633, offshore Louisiana, and Block A-350 High Island, East Addition, offshore Texas. Five wells have been drilled on West Cameron Block 633 and three wells have been drilled on Block A-350 High Island, East Addition, to date, but further drilling will be required before the blocks can be considered commercial.

Transcontinental Production Company has an 18.75 percent working interest in each of these blocks. Shell Oil Company owns a 56.25 percent working interest, and CNG, a subsidiary of Consolidated Natural Gas, a 25 percent working interest.

jected needs, and tentative plans for the area.

The service plans concepts that were developed locally were effectively incorporated into and consequently accurately reflect the plans for meeting sewerage needs for the county to the year 2000.

This management plan was funded by a grant administered by the State Water Control Board. Any person interested may see a copy of the complete plan at the office of the Manager of the Town of Appomattox.

The Board of Supervisors passed a resolution permitting the collection of any and all fees relating to building inspection by the Office of Building and Housing and the Collections will be turned over to the Treasurer of Appomattox County.

The registration of contractors in Appomattox County has begun and all contractors should register at the Office of Building and Housing within the next 60 days.

The board received a letter from T. E. Pittman, Resident Engineer, Virginia Department of Highways, complimenting the county on the operation of the new landfill. He stated that the operation was one of the best he had seen in the State of Virginia.

Citizens of the county are encouraged to be sure that lids on the containers are closed after disposing of their trash. This has been a small problem in some areas of the county.

Lloyd Walton, Division Superintendent of Appomattox County Schools, appeared before the board to report on the financial status of the school system.

The board passed a resolution, requested by Gene Richardson, Sheriff of Appomattox County, stating that county vehicle "stickers" will not be required on unmarked cars used in the Sheriff's Department.

In other business, the board authorized the purchase of a new typewriter to be used in the Clerk's Office.

The board had requested a car to be used by the Sheriff's Department but no action was taken on this matter.

Robert E. McClenny, Jr., District Conservationist, appeared before the Board of Supervisors to request that a soil survey be made of the county by a soil scientist. The board authorized McClenny to contact the Virginia Soil & Water Conservation Commission and make arrangements for a meeting with the board, at their May 10th meeting, for the purpose of making formal application for approval of a soil survey.

of soil surveys show that in farming areas the ratio is about 1 to 60 and in areas of rapidly changing population and industry the ratio is about 1 to 125. The more "soil conscience" people become, the greater the benefit and vice versa. Our county is growing beyond the most optimistic predictions and soil surveys are needed to insure that it was done by the national standards.

How do we go about getting a progressive soil survey? The survey is a cooperative effort between the Soil Conservation Service, VPI&SU, the Virginia Soil and Water Conservation Commission, and the county. The Virginia Soil and Water Conservation Commission sets the priorities for surveys. Urgency of local needs, current availability of usable soils information in the locality, and local contributions influence the priority.

Soil survey field work has been completed for 26 counties including Campbell, Prince Edward and Charlotte Counties. Work is currently underway on soil surveys for 15 counties. In addition to several counties that have been given a priority for a survey, there are 17 counties on a priority list which includes Amherst and Nelson Counties. This list continues to grow. it is essential that Appomattox County formally requests a progressive soil survey and be on the priority list. Unless we act soon, it will be many years before a soil survey could begin, and the pressing demand for this needed information will continue to increase.

Progress So Far

The engineering survey by air is the fifth step to be accomplished in the extension preparations for a project of this magnitude, Preceding it have been: organization of a watershed association; filing of the project application; approval through the review process by the Piedmont Planning District Commission and State Clearinghouse, and selection of dam sites by SCS and S&WCC field workers in conjunction with affected landowners, All of these have been successfully accomplished, and on February 15 these planes and cameras will complete Step 5, the survey,

When completed some years hence, the sprawling watershed project and its 10 dams are calculated to be a major factor in alleviation of flooding of the Appomattox as it courses through Appomattox, Buckingham, Cumberland and Prince Edward counties, It also will provide a new public water source about at least one of the dams is expected to be a multipurpose structure for water supply and recreation as well as flood prevention.

Capitol Comments

By Dan Daniel,
Fifth District, Virginia

WASHINGTON - There was a time, and not too long ago, when the average person's knowledge about and concern with exports and imports was extremely limited. These were matters between businessmen of different nations, they were based on private financial transactions or barter, and except to the extent the individual might purchase some foreign-made item, he or she did not think about the subject at all.

In this area, as in virtually all others, times have changed and what was once not thought about at all is receiving close attention by the public and government.

One matter which is being scrutinized just now is financial transactions arranged by Russia through the Export - Import Bank (Eximbank). There is a potential here for mischief, and it is time for a little light to be directed at some of these transactions. Just now, Eximbank officials are deliberating the guarantee of some $49 million for exploration in the Yakutsk gas fields of eastern Siberia. If development of these sources of natural gas and petroleum is carried through, the ultimate investment could be in excess of $10 billion. Now, that's a hefty chunk of money, by anybody's definitin , and before the first step is taken, the matter deserves considerable thought.

If of course goes without saying that the world needs petroleum and natural gas supplies. The truth is, the world already has substantial reserves; the difficulty is that the owners of some of these supplies, at least in the Persian Gulf area, have demonstrated a high degree of unrealiability in providing them, and have taken a cavalier attitude toward the buyer-nations' ability to pay. Shall we assume Russia, a nation which played a major role in bringing the world to its present state regarding Arabian oil, is going to be more benevolent, once these supplies are developed?

And another point: Prior to going to Eximbank, the USSR attempted to interest Japan, a nation even more import - dependent for petroleum and gas than we are, in this venture. Now, Japan has a vast amount of dollars and other foreign currencies, because of its long string of payments balance surpluses. They had the need, the money, the proximity, a highly-developed technology - and they backed out of the deal. This ought to tell us something.

Russia is 90% self - sufficient in natural resources, is estimated to have gold reserves valued in the billions, and controls invaluable stores of exportable - and salable - raw materials. In light of all this, why should funds badly needed for other purposes be committed to that country?

As we researched this matter, we found that Eximbank has been extremely generous in financing business ventures in Russia. They have guaranteed or participated in loans to provide facilities to manufacture subversible ... pumps, stainless steel tableware and dishware, assembly lines for pistons, 250 circular knitting machines, 38 special type compressors, an iron ore pellet plant, and machine friction wheels. And this is only a partial list. Further, it contains items in direct competition with those made by American workers. Some publicity has attended the deal to finance a fertilizer plant, but this is being held up because of legal difficulties experienced by the American participant.

Now, you might say this is really none of our affair. After all, a bank has every right to operate in international markets, and this one was established for that purpose, right? Wrong. For this one is operating in part with your cash - and a mortgage on your future.

An economist has provided us the following information, based on available fourth - quarter 1973 figures. Eximbank raises its capital in the open market. In October, it was paying 7.75 percent for this money. It then lends it at 6 percent to borrower - nations. You pick up the tab for the difference, and on loans to Russia along, this was estimated at $52.5 million.

You lose another way. Eximbank competes in the money market with the Treasury and with private borrowers, and this forces the cost of borrowed money higher.

If that is not enough to convince you this is not the best possible way to spend your money, consider this: Assuming current domestic interest rates at 10%, a $3 billion requirement would cost domestic borrowers $300 million in interest payments. Under subsidized government rates, the Russians would pay $180 million for the same amount of money - $120 million less than American investors.

I have introduced a bill which would serve as a partial brake on undertakings of this kind. it is a Sense of the House Resolution calling on Eximbank and other government agencies to cease all loan activities, extension of credits or credit guarantees, or investment guarantees to Russia and its satellites, pending passage of the Trade Bill.

Suppose a man walked into a bank in the Fifth District, sat down with a loan officer, and made the following statement:

"I am here to borrow money. Don't ask me what I own or how much money I have. I have a reputation for stealing my self-control, and have been known to get physically violet when they object. I repay my loans when I choose. I got involved in a fight 30-some years ago and the party who picked up the bills is still waiting for payment. Oh, yes - and I will set my own terms for repayment."

Would the customer get the loan?
